

Business Case Preparation

---

Oxford Brookes University

Oxford Brookes University is the leading 'new university' in the country and aspires to become a world renowned institute for learning and research. They are about to embark on an unprecedented investment programme to enable them to achieve this aim.

Client	Oxford Brookes University
Project Title	Business Case Preparation
Client Sector	Higher Education
Project Value	Various
Service Provided	Strategic Advice

Our Role

---

In order to ensure a rigorous evaluation of the projects comprising the programme, and the programme as a whole, Provelio were brought in to prepare the project business cases. These business cases compared the financial and non-financial costs and benefits of the projects over a 30-year period. They provided a holistic assessment of the projects which facilitated a structured debate on the investment options for the programme. The University values Provelio's independent assessment and rigorous analysis. The lifecycle costing and assessment of relative benefits and risks within a defined framework has provided greater clarity for the University on important decisions. Provelio's financial models incorporate a sensitivity analysis which tests assumptions and identify areas where value engineering can have the best effect over the long term.

Client Benefits

---

The designers, master planners and decision makers in the University now have a common structure for evaluating the best long term strategy for the development of the University and thus have the confidence to make sound decisions.